

Creating a new Project

Treelab

June 7, 2021

1 Project Creation

You have build Orbit and now you want to start with your own first project. First of all, I recommend to look into the samples to get an idea of how Orbit works. If you feel ready to start your own project, go into your Projects folder. On Windows this is `%AppData%/Treelab/OrbitEngine/`. Open a command prompt and run

```
create_project <project_name>
```

Replace `<project_name>` with the name of your project. This will setup your project and open Visual Studio to start working on your project. This is the Project Creation process. You can now build your project and run it.